

Canadian Women with Fibroids

A home for Canadian women with fibroids to learn, share, unpack and come together while providing raw, honest insight to their experiences through discussion and data.

Through surveys & discussion, CANFib brings valuable information to the table helping all stakeholders participate in the solution.

Stakeholder Strategies: Perspective

“The open and honest sharing of her own personal journey, and in-depth understanding both the clinical & systemic challenges of this chronic condition was instrumental in supporting others to share their story.”
